Persuasive Group Speech Assignment and Grading Criteria

Cadi Kadlec
School of Communication
Illinois State University
Normal, IL 61790-4480
crkadle@ilstu.edu
Objectives
The persuasive group assignment is intended to help students reach the following goals:
1. To identify and evaluate the legitimacy of the various arguments that comprise a controversial issue
2. To find, select, and evaluate sources that support or refute perspectives on a controversial issue
3. To construct and communicate well reasoned arguments with clarity and adequate support
4. To practice the skills of producing messages that are responsive to the concerns and interests of others
5. To practice voicing one’s own opinion
6. To sharpen presentational skills both verbal and nonverbal
7. To practice cooperative group skills (collaboration, compromise, assertiveness) and conflict management strategies when necessary

Purpose
The purpose of the persuasive group assignment is to present a credible and convincing argument in support of a change or continuation in an area of policy through various perspectives or points of view on a controversial topic.

Topic
The topic of the presentation should be some issue that is not only timely and controversial, but also can be linked to an existing on campus organization. All final topics must be cleared through the instructor. Remember audience analysis procedures for topic selection. A list of possible topics can be found at the end of this packet.

Assignment
Students will work in groups in order to relate campus organizations to current controversial societal issues. Students are expected to present a persuasive group speech to their classmates based on an issue that they feel is relevant to the organization that they are advocating for.

Format
The format for Communication 110 is quite flexible. In fact, students are encouraged to be creative. The group presentation may take on a variety of formats, however, students are reminded that they are expected to present themselves as experts on their campus organization and linkable controversial topic that the group chooses. In deciding upon a format, groups are encouraged to utilize a moderator in order to help create transitions between main topics and stabilize the flow of the entire presentation.
Time Limits
Each group will have approximately 50 minutes to present the topic and 10 minutes for questions or comments from the audience. Points (5) will be deducted for each entire minute over or under the entire time limit. PRACTICE – PRACTICE – PRACTICE and time yourselves before the presentation.

Outline and References
The group will provide a collective typed outline which will follow the same format utilized for the informative speeches, which includes: an introduction, body, and conclusion. In addition, groups may also choose to create a script. However, it is expected that an extemporaneous delivery style will be utilized at the time of the presentation (each group member may not use more than 5 note cards- detailing only the speaking outline). This assignment requires a minimum of 5 sources for each group member formatted in APA style on a reference page at the end of the preparation outline. For example, if you have 5 members in your group you must have 25 sources cited in APA style on a reference page at the time of your group presentation. All of the sources cited on your reference page must be orally cited at some point during the presentation.

Videotaping
One member of the group will provide the videotape for the group. After the presentation the group will meet to view the tape or will arrange a convenient mechanism to pass the tape efficiently among the members. Every member of the group will individually evaluate their own performance, group performance, and peer performance / effort.

Evaluation
The group project and presentation is intended to be a “group effort”. For that reason, 100 of the total 200 total points possible for the Group project will be based on overall group performance. Every member of the group will receive the same number of group points. Individual delivery will receive 40 points of the total 200. Anonymous group evaluations will be worth 20 points given to each student by his or her fellow group members at the completion of the Group presentation. Social Group activity and Group Service activity will account for 30 of the 200 group points. The remaining 10 points will be attributed to organizational contact and attendance of 1 organizational meeting and interview.

Social Group Activity Criteria (10 pts)

The purpose of this activity is to allow group members to establish a rapport with one another outside of the classroom.

Objectives
- Identify group norms and roles
- Become familiar with project group members

Overview of Social Activity
Group members are expected to attend a social on campus activity as a group and reflect on the experience. All members of the group must be present in order for the activity to count as the Social Group Activity. Following the activity, each member of the group must individually write a one page paper describing the roles that each member of the group took. For a description of group norms and roles see page 224-227 of text book.

Group Service Activity (20pts.)

The purpose of this activity is to encourage students to become familiar with community and societal needs through a holiday drive. Students will collect items that will be donated to various organizations in the Bloomington/Normal community.

Objectives
- To increase students’ awareness of various needs in their community.
- To increase students’ awareness of their potential positive impact on their community.

Overview of the Holiday Collection Drive

To encourage participation among Com 110 students, the Drive will feature a competition between COM 110 sections. The Com 110 section contributing the most toward the drive will win a pizza party and certificates for each member of the class.

Moreover, the group in this class who is able to collect the most items for the drive will receive 5 bonus points towards their final group project grade. With a project of this magnitude 5 points may be the difference of a letter grade.

Students are encouraged to use persuasive Face-to-Face communication to entice peers to donate items for the holiday drive to their group using the persuasive appeals used in class.

Following the service activity each student will write a one page paper reflecting on their experience. Each student will also explain how they used persuasive appeals to gather items for the Holiday Drive.

Organizational Contact and Attendance of Organizational Meeting (10pts)

The purpose of this activity is to familiarize students with societal issues that current groups on campus are trying to combat.

Objectives
- Understand the purpose of the organization
- Make contact with organization leadership
- Professionally interview organization leadership
- Attend 1 organization meeting
- Apply critical thinking and listening (chapter 15) to out of classroom scenarios

Overview of contact and attendance
Students are expected to work as a group to determine which on campus organization they would like to work with on campus. Every member of the group is expected to participate in interviewing the leadership of the organization and attending one organizational meeting. Answers to interview questions may be utilized as a source within the persuasive group presentation. Students should ask about the purpose of the organization, how students can get involved, and current things that the group is doing to make a difference on campus. While attending the meeting students will be expected to treat all members of the organization with the highest amount of respect and report to the class about their experience.

Evaluation Criteria
